Unlike other gold and silver – edible, but processed in spaces that are not specifically dedicated to the production of food – Gold Chef is a real food product with a guarantee, and it complies with all laws and health regulations. The products contain only gold and pure silver, whose production can be traced. They are processed in a production facility that has been authorised by Italian and International health authorities (including the U.S.A. FDA), in full compliance with the most stringent European Community regulations on food production. The quality of the products is also ensured by four hundred years of Giusto Manetti Battiloro's history, and certified by the most authoritative international bodies. The Gold Chef edible gold and silver products are produced by Giusto Manetti Battiloro, a leading company in the production of gold and silver leaf.

The Manetti family has been practising the noble art of goldbeating for more than four hundred years. Goldbeaters were craftsmen who, even in ancient times, knew how to transform an ingot into gold leaf so thin that it was almost impalpable. Since 1600, fifteen generations of Manettis have combined artisan tradition and technological innovation to guarantee the highest quality and reliability.
